Unified Service At Presbyterian Church

Encouraged by the fine response to last week's service the Presbyterian church will again hold a unified service Sunday.

This type of service, Rev. Walters says, is particularly suited to the summer season, as it combines the worship and Bible study periods within a 90 minute limit.

Mackintosh, R. D. Walters, Robert Wright, Lloyd Wiant. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. C. F. Evans of the Christian church.

The Alliance club presented the Salem members with a leather-bound guest book, which was the prize for the attendance achievement. "Hobo" Squires was the featured speaker, addressing the two organizations on the experiences of a hobo while traveling 80,000 miles on $12.

Squires expressed considerable praise for the work that Rotarians are doing throughout the country for crippled children. Following the address by Squires, the meeting adjourned into informal gatherings. Approximately one hundred Rotarians, their wives and friends attended the joint meeting.

BRUNO'S APPEAL HEARD BY COURT

Hauptmann Lawyers Declare He Did Not Get Justice

(By Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's lawyers stripped his case of its emotional wrappings today and presented the core—the strictly legal aspect—to the state's highest court in an appeal from the Flemington verdict which decreed he must die for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

To the 14 judges of the court of errors and appeals, sitting in the oppressive hush of a big, white-walled room, they presented a lengthy brief, citing numerous legal opinions to support their contention that Hauptmann did not receive justice in the crowded, old-fashioned Hunterdon county court house.

To the brief they added, in their appeal, three hours of oral argument, twice the time allotted to the state.

Hits Use of Theories

The Hauptmann brief laid its heaviest emphasis on the charge that the state had wrongfully used varying theories in the trial as to how the kidnaped child met death. The burden of state's evidence, it was said, was that the child had been killed when he was dropped from the kidnaper's buckling ladder. Despite this, the brief contended, Attorney General David T. Wilentz, summing up for the state, espoused an entirely different theory that Hauptmann had killed the child before removing him from his crib.

A week-old opinion of the court granting a new trial to a Newark Negro was cited in support of this contention. Although the court decision, it observed in its opinion that it was unfair to inject a new theory in a murder trial after the case had proceeded on a different theory because it deprived the defendant of his right to cross examination of the new theory.

The brief further contended that the alleged varying death theories advanced by the prosecution contravened Hauptmann's constitutional rights to a fair trial. In this contention was seen the possible basis of an appeal to the U. S. supreme court in event of an unfavorable decision.

Challenges Summation

The brief, prepared by Egbert Roederers, C. Lloyd Fisher and Frederick A. Pope, challenged the legality of many portions of the attorney general's summation at Flemington, termed the summation inflammatory, and charged Wilentz in cross examining Hauptmann

Comrades In Blue End 69th Annual Ohio G. A. R. Camp

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 20.—Voice of many a grizzled veteran broke today bidding goodbye to a comrade in blue as the 69th annual encampment of the Ohio grand army of the Republic drew to a close.

Only 55 of the 350 surviving veterans in the state were able to attend this year's convalesce. Fewer still will trek to Cleveland for the 70th encampment.

A sturdy dozen of the aging warriors braved a blustery wind to participate in the annual parade yesterday—a sharp contrast to the 8,000 who marched here a half-century ago.

They were led by the newly-elected commander, H. F. Russell of Alliance, who was accompanied by their retiring chief, Charles I. McFaragh of Urbana.

Others in the line of march were: M. B. Barrett, Cadiz; James Allen, Logan; Francis S. Layton, Marion; G. V. Kern, Zanesville, and John Keely, Elyria.

Layton was chosen as senior commander for Ohio and F. S. Maris, Chardon, junior vice commander.

Mrs. Rose Warner of Medina was named president of the women's relief corps auxiliary.

Steps at the home of Mrs. R. W. Simpson of 837 Franklin avenue, were damaged yesterday when a car owned by Mrs. J. B. Works of 1099 South Lincoln ave. rolled backwards down a driveway and across the street police reported. The machine came to a stop against the sidewalk steps.

DAVEY CLASHES WITH O.S.U. HEAD ON BUDGET CUT

Advises President Rightmire To "Set His House In Order"

$1,266,500 IS CUT FROM SCHOOL FUND

Governor Declares Ohio State Costs Higher Than Elsewhere

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—Declaring that it costs 31 per cent more for education at Ohio State university than in four other state universities, Governor Davey today told President George W. Rightmire, of the Buckeye school, that "if he will do a business like job of setting his house in order, he will find it possible to pay his teaching staff better."

Replying to President Rightmire's statement that the executive's slash of $1,266,500 from the Ohio State budget had "runk a staggering blow at the university," the governor said "the facts are that he will have $132,645 more for this biennium than he spent last."

Offers To Send Help

The executive said he felt that "someone" can do a fine job of running Ohio State on $7,389,100 for the current biennium. "I would suggest," he said, "that the president undertake to prove that he is the man capable of that high achievement. I have no desire to interfere in the conduct or management of any educational institution but if the president of Ohio State expressed his willingness I will send him some capable business executives who can show him how to eliminate unnecessary expenditures and do a magnificent job with the large sum of money at his disposal."

The governor termed President Rightmire's statement of yesterday "intemperate" and said "if his statement were based upon the truth, there might be a little more justification for it."

Stating that all five of the state colleges—Ohio State, Bowling Green, Kent, Miami and Ohio university—had received moderate increases over the previous two years, the governor declared that his figures showed that the per capita cost of education at Ohio State is $285 a year, as compared with a per capita of $217 a year in the other four universities combined.

In addition to the $5,889,100 granted Ohio State, the executive said, the university will have available $1,500,000 from student fees during the biennium.

Referring to President Rightmire's expressed fear that the reduced budget would mean the looting of the Ohio State faculty by

EAST PALESTINE WORK APPROVED

$5,387 Fund Is Set; 49 Million Ready For Ohio Roads

A project calling for the improvement of Walnut st., East Palestine, has just been approved, it was announced at the Works Division office in Lisbon today. The estimated cost has been placed at $5,387.63, of which amount East Palestine will contribute $2,959.13.

The proposal, submitted Sept. 7 last calls for the employment of 45 men for 4,271 hours, with labor cost being fixed at $2,031. Work is to begin immediately, and those who will be employed will be selected from relief lists.

49-Million For Roads

COLUMBUS, June 20.—The state government survey estimated today that more than $49,000,000 will be available for the state highway department's bureau of construction during 1935.

The estimate was based on an expected $4,565,000 from national recovery secondary funds, known as federal aid; $35,000,000 emergency relief appropriation, and $9,745,000 from the state gasoline tax. The estimated total available to the bureau in 1935—$49,310,000, compares with $23,418,880 available in 1933 and $17,038,921 in 1934.

The report explained that the $4,565,000 allotted by the federal government must be matched by a similar amount from the state highway fund, and must be spent by July 1937. Likewise, the $35,000,000 emergency relief appropriation must be expended by the same time.

During 1934, the report showed the following projects were contracted for in the 12 state highway divisions: 293 contracts; cost of construction $13,707,885; completed projects 341,544 miles of road; bridges 50; actual total costs including "over and under" on contracts, engineering and detour expenses, $15,654,380.

Uncompleted projects: 69 contracts amounting to $4,626,425; miles of road 103,093; bridges 14.

The report explained that the bureau of construction supervises construction of roadways and bridges after contracts have been let. Revenue for the bureau is allotted from the highway construction fund.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE SPURNS WEALTH TAX PLANS

County Motor Club Membership Gains; Reports Are Given

Twenty-six new applications for membership were received by the board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club at their meeting last night, according to Albert P. Morris, manager, who reported a gain of 28 per cent for the first five months of 1935.

This meeting was held at the East Palestine Country club, where the board members were guests of Roy A. Sutherland, director from that city. President Albert I. McLain and Manager Albert P. Morris were named delegates to the convention of the Ohio State Automobile association at Cedar Point.

A report by A. E. Beardsmore on legislative activities of the Ohio State Automobile association revealed that several important bills had been passed, including a safety responsibility bill, a change in dates of issuing license plates to April, 1935, which gives all motorists three additional months' free use of present plates; increasing the highway patrol to reduce reckless and drunken driving; the creation of a state rational highway planning committee, and a reduction in license fees for the higher horsepower cars.

They cooperated in defeating several pieces of obnoxious legislation which included several attempts to increase gas taxes, the return of automobiles to personal property tax, and an attempt to add 2 per cent tax for automobile financing.

The next meeting was set for Salem on July 10.

GRANGERS HEAR TALK BY AGENT

Floyd Lower Guest At Perry Meet; C.A. White Also Speaks

Two interesting addresses were features of last night's meeting of Perry grange, with C. A. White of Lisbon and County Agent Floyd Lower as the principal speakers.

Prof. White's address was on the subject "High Points in Ohio History" and recalled a number of incidents outstanding in the history of the state. He recalled Morgan's raid, described the mound builders, and referred to the Tuscarawas massacre and other notable events of historic interest.

"Beautifying the Home Surroundings" was the title of a talk by Floyd Lower, who outlined several ways to beautify the home. Clearing away all debris, planting shrubbery and flowers and knowing what things to plant and the proper place to put them were three inexpensive ways to beautify home surroundings, according to Agent Lower.

The program last night was in the hands of the home economics committee, of which Mrs. George Bates is chairman. The program follows: Saxophone duet, "Day Dreams of Youth" and "Visions of Youth," Dorothy Day and Mary Shriver, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harold Babb; reading, "The Awkward Mistake," Mrs. Ralph Huston; vocal selections, "Mighty Like a Rose" and "Stay in Your Own Back Yard," Malvern Russell, with piano accompaniment by Genevieve Zimmerman; original poem, "That New Disease, Taxes," Lucyle Hillard; trombone numbers, "Non e Ver" and "Columbinum," Daniel Holloway; vocal solos, "In the Garden of My Heart" and "In the Garden of Tomorrow," Harold Babb.

A new entertainment committee was appointed last evening and includes Mrs. Cecil Crothers, Mrs. Homer Entrikin, Mrs. C. C. Miller, Mrs. Glenn Bates, Mrs. Edward Stewart and Mrs. George Bates.

Perry grange will meet July 3 for a patriotic program in observance of Independence day.

The young people of the grange will meet June 28.

Refuses To Approve Any Of President's Proposals

"NUISANCE TAX" EXTENSION VOTED

But Period Is Set At One Year Instead of House's Two

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The senate finance committee refused today to add any of President Roosevelt's wealth tax proposals in approving the house resolution extending $500,000,000 of nuisance and excise taxes expiring June 30.

Higher taxes on the wealthy were proposed yesterday by the President in a special message to congress. He asked this action to reduce large incomes and to prevent concentration of great wealth.

Considerable differences of opinion existed as to whether he wanted the program passed this session. There was a clear implication he wanted most of it enacted before adjournment, but some leading Democrats privately opposed this. The senate committee voted to extend the nuisance taxes for one year instead of two voted by the house.

Senator La Follette (P., Wis.) proposed that an inheritance tax and higher surtax and corporation taxes be incorporated in the resolution, but Chairman Harrison announced the "sentiment" of the committee was that the proposal should go through without amendments.

La Follette said, however, he would renew his fight on the senate floor.

It was indicated the committee majority would oppose the amendments on the floor.

Harrison expressed the belief the President's program could not be put into shape for passage this session.

Salem Grange Plans Meeting On Friday

The program to be presented at the Salem grange meeting Friday night will consist of a group of addresses on subjects of interest to the grangers.

The meeting will open with roll call to which the men will respond with, "Where I Met My Wife"; the ladies, "What I Thought of My Husband When I Met Him"; young people, "Where I Would Like to Go on My Wedding Trip."

The talks will be, "Is the Modern Girl as Well Equipped to be a Homemaker" as the Girl of Grandmother's Day," by Mrs. John Yates; "What Inventions Are Needed to Aid the Farmer," Joseph Smith; "How to Build a Rock Garden," Mrs. Sarah McArthur; "Should a Young Couple Buy a Farm or Live in Town," J. U. Thomas.

Exams Planned for Notaries Public

The mid-season examination for notary public in this county will be held in No. 2 court room at Lisbon on Friday, June 28. Examiners Joel H. Sharp of Salem and William H. Vorey, Jr., of East Liverpool, said today.

This will be the last examination of the kind in this county this year. A registration fee of $2 is charged under a court ruling. Unless an applicant for notary public passes the examination, the court will not approve an application for appointment. Many who have taken past examinations have failed to qualify.

How We Change

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 20.—At the great San Diego world's fair yesterday, Mr. Hoover received a tremendous ovation.

There is no country in the world where a person changes from a hero to a goat, and a goat to a hero, or visa versa, as they do with us. And all through no change of them. The change is always in us.

It's not our public men that you can't put your finger on. It's our public. We are the only fleas weighing over 100 pounds. We don't know what we want, but we are ready to bite somebody to get it.

POLITICS IS OUT

"Politics, so far as we are concerned, is out," President Roosevelt told state administrators of the work relief program, who were in Washington to get instructions for the $4,000,000 drive on unemployment. "If anybody asks you to discriminate because of politics," Mr. Roosevelt explained, "you can tell them that the president of the United States gave direct orders there is not to be any such discrimination. That applies both ways. It means we cannot hurt our enemies nor help our friends. We have to and will treat them all exactly alike. In carrying out this work, consider it purely and solely from a human point of view. Do everything you can to prevent the use of political considerations, one way or the other."

The last sentence helps explain the first one. Note that President Roosevelt did not say, "Politics is out." He said it was out as far as he was concerned. Note that he did not instruct state administrators to prevent the use of political consideration, but said, "Do everything you can to prevent the use of political considerations." Probably no one realizes more clearly than President Roosevelt, a practical politician, the impossibility of keeping politicians away from $4,000,000. With the best intentions in the world, Mr. Roosevelt could not enforce his commendable instructions.

Washington is a remote city to the thousands of politicians who are clustered around the relief pork barrel. They have a job to do. For instructions, they are looking to Postmaster General Farley, who never has been guilty of spurning the tried and true methods of keeping party machinery in good repair. It may be stated as a fact that work relief will be shot through and through with politics, not because President Roosevelt wants it to be that way but because he can't prevent it from being that way. Idealistic speeches to the contrary notwithstanding.

HABITUAL MENACES

There's a theory that an automobile driver who has had an accident thereafter is more careful. Presumably, fight is a deterrent to recklessness.

The theory never has been proved. An interesting attempt to disprove it is being made, however, in Nassau county, N. Y. With the aid of government money, a drive against accident repeaters is being conducted.

Three hundred names of drivers who have been in more than one accident a year have been circulated among county officials. Hereafter, whenever their names appear in connection with another accident, they will be given credit for it.

Formerly, the only way an accident repeater could be detected was to be involved in more than one accident in the same community. By exchanging information, complete records have been made possible. Thirty drivers—10 percent of the 300 repeaters whose records are on file—were found to have been in three or more accidents in less than a year.

It would be difficult to guess what good may come out of the idea. However, the existence of records showing who the habitual menaces of a community's driving population are should encourage action to remove them from public roads. Americans are slowly approaching the time when common safety will necessitate denial of the driving privilege to men and women who have proved they are incapable of using it without threatening life more than necessary.

After doing a providentially successful hop-step-and-jump through traffic at an uptown street crossing we have begun to suspect that the horse and buggy era predicted recently by the President hasn't arrived yet and possibly may have been run over before it got started.

George Bernard Shaw says he has written a movie scenario which he will sell to the movies for a quarter of a million dollars. That's a good idea for a scenario itself.—Detroit Free Press.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, June 21

A very active and progressive day is suggested by the planetary aspects both by lunar and mutual direction. Employment is under a most benignant sign for promotion preferment of superiors and probable increase of salary, although a change with possibility of new contracts and new business is in prospect. It is a propitious time for a change of advantage with new opportunities and contacts. Withal there is need of due precaution, especially where there is a matter of friendship involved.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of advancement, preferment and probably change in employment, with new business contracts also favored. It is an auspicious time for applying to superiors and those in power for favors or increase, although it would be well to be tactful where friendship might be imposed upon. All pertaining to writings should flourish.

A child born on this day may be brilliant, versatile, responsible and may find high favor from its employers and those in standing. It may have an eventful and conspicuous career.

Notable nativity: Dan Beard, artist.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, June 20—Probably no new restaurant in years got away to such a publicity fanfare as the place on East 59th street opened by Charles Weeghman recently. The salvos were to encourage a one time millionaire and sportsman in his fifties for a come-back.

His stand was the former site of an old timer Daly's and has been refurbished in the modern decor. Weeghman is not new to the catering business and was originator of the one-armed lunch. A chain of them started in Chicago spread to every large city.

He was reputedly worth nearly $10,000,000. The combination of trying to start a league in opposition to organized baseball and going through the financial debacle shucked him down to the proverbial thin dime. Indeed, he lost everything save his courage.

Today, rotund and beaming, he is the front man in his latest experiment, peeping over the shoulders of waiters to see that service runs smoothly. He has started off to a packed business in an era when everybody who goes broke seems to grow broker opening restaurants.

Speaking of names—there's the book page of Punch. Acute reviews, as a rule. This time it noticed something by Willa Cather and praised it without condescension. Then concluded: "Willa Cather? What jolly queer names some of these American writers choose!" And the next succeeding paragraph noticed something by a British writer signing himself Oliver Onions. And not a change of expression. There is the gift for self-immersion that has made England always great and always funny.

Bugs Baer, attended by a very elegant waitress in a noontime snack at a South street hushery, was asked: "May I reimburse your coffee?" He replied: "Just a soupcon, princess!"

One of the Baer yarns was a stock story of Arnold Daly years ago. As it was told, Baer was in the sports room of a newspaper where at the time he was a comic artist. One of his fellows came in limping and all hunched over. Baer inquired the matter. "I'm a little stiff from bowling," was the reply. "I don't care where you're from!" snapped Baer. "What happened to you?"

The high favorite among the animals at the Central Park Zoo is the 85-pound roly-poly Asiatic sun bear, presented by the blonde dancer Claire Luce. It is the clown of the exhibits turning somersaults, sliding along bellywise and otherwise indulging outlandish capers. Incidentally many of the gift pets to the various zoos are named for celebrities. Among them are a Floyd Gibbons fox, an Amelia Earhart doe and a Frank Buck gorilla.

Vincent Lopez is one of the most conspicuous of the in-and-outers among the band leaders. He will not remain in New York, although his favorite city, for more than a year. Then he takes to the outland, often remaining a year in this place and that. Paul Whiteman was first of the baton wielders to realize the value of a change of base. Whenever he has a feeling he is permanently established he pulls up stakes, often almost overnight. Once he remained in Chicago for more than a year. Another hiatus was a year's stay in Hollywood. Ben Bernie, too, is one of the migratory birds who is always in flight!

Thingumabobs: The mildly bespoke Grant Mitchell was a hard boiled top sergeant in the world war. May De Sousa, famous leading lady of the nineties, is married to an American doctor in Shanghai. Charles Farrell began his career as a dresser for a midge. Clark and McCullough are known in their home town as "Butch" Clark and "Red" McCullough. Peggy Hoyt's dog leaves the room when anyone coughs. Joe Weber, whose padded stomach was a feature of his act, weighs 95 pounds. Lou Holtz's Mr. Lapidus who says "My Fra-a-an" is a real life character. Helen Menken likes to do over old houses. Frank Crumit is building a vacation house in his home town, Jackson, O.

A sidewalk meanderer buried deep in his newspaper did a curb step-off into a comic fall ahead of me, which exploded a short of laughter. Glaring at me coldly he inquired: "How'd you like to twang a banjo?" And me a mandolinist!

Advice To Sun Bathers

CERTAIN PRIMITIVE peoples worshiped the sun, regarding it as the father of all life. Modern civilization is behind the ancients in some things, but it has not overlooked the numerous benefits of sunshine. We know that many constitutional disorders as well as the infectious diseases, are prevented or cured by the therapeutic action of the sun's rays.

With all of its good, however, there is also harm in excessive exposure to sunlight. Recent investigations indicate that children do not benefit alike from the sun. Some are unpleasantly affected by too much sun. If the child harbors a tendency to tuberculosis of the lungs there is danger of stirring up the infection by giving him an excessive quantity of sunlight.

In general, the value of sunlight is so very, very great that I do not wish to say a thing that would cause any mother to deprive her child of this essential to good health. I desire merely to sound a note of warning.

It is always advisable to consult with your doctor before exposing a delicate child to intensive sun treatments. If the child is in good health and has no signs of lung weakness, it is perfectly safe to resort to the tonic action of the sun, providing the length of exposure is gradually extended. Severe burns often occur because of extended exposure to the hot sun. Use good sense in the matter.

Plan For Child

A good plan is to have the child wear a sun-suit and play in the open air for a half hour before ten and after four o'clock on sunny days in summer. On cloudy days the air-bath may be given in the middle part of the day. It should be borne in mind, however, that a severe sunburn may follow excessive exposure even on a cloudy day.

Gradually increase the period of exposure so that by the third day the young child remains in the sun for thirty to forty minutes. Another fifteen minutes may be added by the sixth day. At the end of the week, if the child has acquired a protective coat of tan, he may romp around in a sun-suit all day without danger of a burn.

Advised for Infants

Exposure to the sun is advised for young infants. But added precaution must be taken against overexposure with irritation of the delicate skin. If the eyes are sensitive they should be protected against the glare of the sun by an eyeshade or a sunbonnet. Let me repeat that the periods of exposure should be graded and the rays should at first be permitted to reach a small part of the body at a time.

In exceedingly hot weather precautions must be taken against heat-stroke. As a rule it is best to keep baby in the shade when the weather is excessively hot and humid.

When direct sunlight is not available, as during the winter months, or cool weather in summer, the infant and growing child should be given cod liver oil. This contains vitamin D which is generated by the rays of the sun. This vitamin is essential to proper growth and the development of sturdy bones and good teeth.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. W. H. P. Q.—Will the fumes of pine tar and a little turpentine used to "kill" cold germs, prove harmful to babies or young children? Would it be possible to wash in too much of the tar smoke?

A.—These fumes would probably be too strong for babies and young children. The germs will disappear by flooding the rooms with fresh air and sunlight. Your doctor will advise you if further fumigation is necessary.

Mrs. D. YQ.—I have a baby of four months who has been having trouble with her eyes. They are constantly filling up and "tearing" during the daytime. Upon awakening during the morning there is pus in the eye and on the lid. What would you advise?

A.—I would advise you to consult your doctor. He will outline the necessary treatment. The trouble is probably due to a slight obstruction to the tear duct.

"Chain" Telegrams Bring Heavy Suit

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—The Western Union Telegraph Co. was sued today in supreme court for $3,500,000 on the ground it violated gambling laws by sending "chain" telegrams.

The suit was brought by William F. Zwerner of Merchantville, as a "common informer" under the gambling laws of 1877.

Under this law the "informer" receives one half the penalties and the county the other half.

Sluggish, overworked blood makes you feel weak—mentally dull.

S.S.S. Tonic brings vitality and tone to the whole body.

BODILY WEAKNESS is only one of the many symptoms of a low red-blood-cell count. Loss of appetite, underweight, nervousness and like common ills are often due to this same underlying cause.

The red-blood-cells must be up to normal and vigorous to keep the tissues pure and to help supply the body with fresh oxygen-energy in its circuit thru the entire body of over 200 times daily.

S.S.S. Tonic, in the absence of any organic disease, should help you get those vital red-blood-cells back up to normal. It will make you enjoy your food and help your digestion, too. It is a scientific medicine, 108 years of success. Just try it and you, too, may soon "feel like yourself again." Insist on S.S.S. Tonic in the blood red cellophane wrapped package. ## Prepare To Vote On General Strike

COLUMBUS, June 20.—Preparations for balloting on a general sympathy strike were underway here today.

A walkout of all union trades representatives was proposed by the Columbus Federation of Labor last night as a means of forcing an end to the 10 weeks' old strike at the Columbus Packing Co.

Sixty-seven local unions, representing from 15,000 to 18,000 workers, planned to conduct a referendum vote which will be reported to the federation July 3. A. Z. Larson, federation president, announced.

Marked on several occasions by violence, the packing company strike has resisted all negotiations toward settlement. Mediation attempts by city officials, church leaders and a federal labor conciliator have been blocked by disagreements over a closed shop and preferential employment.

Theater Attractions

"In Caliente," First National's latest musical offering with Dolores Del Rio and Pat O'Brien in the starring roles, has been booked at the State theater for Friday and Saturday.

It is a musical with plot and romance. The action takes place in Anga Caliente, that made-to-order Mexican resort near the California border and concerns the adventures of Pat O'Brien in the role of a newspaper editor. He gets mixed up with a dizzy blonde along with being inebriated most of the time so his employer kidnaps him.

Del Rio appears with the ensemble in a special dance number. The title number "In Caliente" is done by a group of entertainers. Tonight is the last showing of the double bill at the State. This includes a picture of home folks and a murder yarn.

Guy Kibbee and Aline are the home folks in a film entitled "Mary Jane's Pa" that is all about a printer who leaves his family for the open road and adventure only to return years later to find everything changed as far as he is concerned.

Both visitors and crew are under suspicion in the murder in the film "Murder in the Fleet." Robert Taylor solves the crime after a great many dreadful experiences, but he wins the love of a beautiful girl, played by Jean Parker.

Others in the cast include Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton, Una Merkel and Jean Hersholt.

Sheriff Abductors Given Life Terms

JASPER, Ind., June 20.—Judge John L. Sumner sentenced Bascom Ray, Jr., 14, and Maurice Sheridan, 17, both of Huntington, W. Va., to life terms today for the kidnaping earlier in the week of Sheriff Edward Leugers.

The two boys were captured Monday about 25 miles southwest of here a few hours after they kidnaped the sheriff from in front of his jail. They had been taken into custody by Sheriff Leugers, who said he found bootleg liquor in a car in which they were traveling. The sheriff said that while he was escorting them into jail the boys drew revolvers and forced him to accompany them. They finally released him near Boonville, shackled with his own handcuffs.

WALEYS FACING COURT CHARGES

Weyerhaeuser Kidnapers Indicted Under Lindbergh Law

(By Associated Press)
TACOMA, Wash., June 20.—Several courses were open to Harmon Waley, ex-convict, and his wife today as they prepared for arraignment on federal charges growing out of the kidnaping of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.

A federal grand jury after a quick appraisal of the government case yesterday indicted the Waleys and their fugitive co-defendant, William Mahan, for violation of the stringent Lindbergh kidnaping law; conspiracy to kidnap and using the mails for sending extortion notes.

Under federal court procedure, the Waleys, said by department of justice agents to have confessed the $200,000 kidnaping, may plead guilty immediately and be sentenced forthwith.

May Hear Testimony
District Judge E. E. Cushman, however, might ask to hear testimony tending to show their individual parts in the case, in which case they might be tried before a petit jury next week. Also the Waleys might ask for time in which to plead.

If the Waleys decide to stand on the "not guilty" pleas they entered when arraigned in commissioner's court on holding charges recently, they are expected to be rushed to trial probably next week.

Federal court attaches pointed out that the department of justice may not want to expose its evidence before Mahan is captured, in which case the Waleys probably would be returned to the county jail at Olympia.

The indictments disclosed, for the first time, the wording of the second ransom letter, in which George's father was instructed by "Egoist Egoist" how to make the $200,000 payment for his son.

The second ransom letter, alleged to have been mailed May 29, five days after George was kidnaped, read:

"Time is up to get a room at Amward Swarts, 19.

bassador 809 Union st., Seattle, at 7 p. m. May 29. Register as James Paul Jones, Seattle. You will be notified at the hotel where you are to go. Remember the demands in full. If demands are lived up to in full, George will be released in 24 hours."

At the Ambassador hotel in Seattle employees stated "James Paul Jones" registered at the hotel, carrying a heavy traveling bag—now believed to have contained the $2 pounds of currency.

Surgeons said his operation made his escape a question of life and death.

Taxpayer "Cheated"

COLUMBUS, June 20.—The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants has voted to appoint a committee to aid enforcement of the state sales tax.

The Simplest electric refrigeration story yet

STEWART-WARNER SAFETY-ZONE

• LONG-LIFE
• AUTOMATIC

PROTECTS FOOD
• SAVES MONEY

• Finer, more dependable, safer food storage! That was the chief aim of Stewart-Warner when it put all its vast facilities into the design and production of electric refrigerators. The result is a marvelously insulated cabinet, precision control of food compartment temperature, and the Slo-Cycle mechanism—quiet, fast, low in operating cost. These and a dozen other refinements accomplish the Safety-Zone—a super-narrow range of temperatures in which foods neither dry out too rapidly nor spoil. A model for every need and budget.

Ohio Is Leading Other States In Pension Payments

COLUMBUS, June 20. — Ohio is leading other states of the nation in pension payments, Henry J. Berroddin, chief of the state old age pension system, asserted today.

Pension awards have increased slightly, the system has eliminated 33,000 Ohioans from relief rolls and administrative costs are reduced monthly, Berroddin added.
In May, Ohio had 75,885 pensioners, Berroddin reported. The percentage of administrative cost in July, 1934, he said, was 150.83 per cent and in April of this year it was $51,025.57 or 4.74 per cent.
The pension chief also pointed out that the May payments in Ohio to pensioners was $1,161,015.80

while New York state paid out $1-126.78 for 53,039 clients.
Average payments vary in counties, he said. He cited Scioto with a $ 37 average; Cuyahoga with $11.29; Stark with $16.44; Hamilton with $17.91; Sandusky with $13.83;
Montgomery with $16.08; Hancock with $14.85; Seneca with $15.24;
Portage with $13.57.

Pensions Approved By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, June 20. — The senate pensions committee unanimously approved a bill to restore veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Boxer rebellion and the Philippine insurrection to the pension status prevailing before passage of the economy act.

Senator McGill (D. Kas.) said he believed the bill, passed by the house last week, had an excellent chance of passage by the senate.
Restoration of the old schedule would add approximately $45,000,000 annually to the pensioners and their dependents.

Slow Mail Keeps 6 Sebring Men Off Primary Ballots

Because it takes a special delivery letter more than 24 hours to travel 30 miles from Sebring to Youngstown, six Sebring Republican candidates will not have their names on the ballot in the primaries, the board of elections ruled yesterday.

The election laws provide that nominating petitions must be in the office of the board not later than 6:30 p. m., 60 days prior to the election. The Sebring letter, postmarked 7 a. m., June 14, did not reach the board until 9 a. m., June 15. The nomination closed at 6:30 p. m. June 14.

The six are Herman Leuten-schlaer, William Shaffer, Joseph Turner and Stephen Leighton, council candidates; Clarence Watson, board of public affairs candidate, and William H. Williams, treasurer candidate.

The nominating petition of J. H. Freetage, Democrat, for board of public affairs at Sebring was also refused, because Freetage failed to sign his declaration of candidacy.

Those refused will be notified by Clerk Frank Barton, and may present appeals at a board meeting June 26.

TAX ONLY PART OF F. D. R. PLAN

Reported As Considering New NRA As Companion Measure

By CLARENCE M. WRIGHT
Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Before Congress had recovered from its surprise at President Roosevelt's plan for share-the-wealth taxes, the confidants of the President used the word today that he is considering a new and broad NRA measure to be, in a sense, a companion measure to the tax program.

The tax plan, intended to break great fortunes and reduce large incomes, was greeted by expressions of gratification from the "left" and "right." It was expected to congress late yesterday with the presidential comment that it would encourage the "very best" of a "wider distribution of wealth."

Would Boost Purchase Power

The new NRA which the President said to be considering was said by some of his advisers, to be designed to increase purchasing power. Thus they said, it would be akin to the tax plan, but it would be a "surprise" message on the part of the President.

There is one major "if" on NRA, said the President. The plan may be amended if the administration find a definition of interstate commerce it considers satisfactory to stand the test of constitutionality. Authoritative sources declared that the President was inclined to believe Congress could constitutionally define interstate commerce so the federal government could supervise some of the things over which the Supreme Court held the old NRA had no power.

The quest, it was said, is for a means to define what the constitution means when it says Congress shall regulate commerce "among the several states."

Yesterday's tax message, it became clear today, was written and sent to Congress against the advice of nearly all the high Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill. After hesitating against such an idea for some time, some of them had been predicting recently that no taxes would be recommended by the President, it was said.

Importantly, wrote the message, the President's knowledge, and sent to the Capitol in a hurry so that it would not be brought on him without it.

His Suggestions

The message suggested: Inheritance, suggestion and gift taxes in addition to those levied on estates, and suitably higher gift taxes to prevent avoidance of the other levies.

A "definite increase" in present taxes on "very great" individual incomes.

Graduated corporation income taxes ranging from 10% to 16% per year instead of the present flat 8% per cent.

"Elimination" of "unnecessary" holding companies in all lines of business through taxation.

Submission and ratification of a constitutional amendment permitting the federal government to regulate future issues of state and local securities.

The President pictured the fourth of July as something to be done immediately, not at this session of Congress. There was some doubt in the minds of many congressional leaders as to how pressing the 4th of July was considered. Mr. Agnew, however, that the inheritance, gift, and higher bracket income and corporate income taxes were offered "thought" legislation and probably passed.

Chairman Harrison (D. Miss.) of the Senate finance committee did express enthusiasm about the program. There was a possibility that it could be added as an amendment to the $500,000,000 "tax extension" measure now pending for the Senate floor. Harrison, however, said he hoped it would not be done, declaring colleges in nearby states, the executive declared "if this is true why did it not happen during 1933 and 1934, when he had less money with which to operate than he has now?"

President Rightmire desires to purchase new books for the university and continue the "Tower club" for worthy boy students, he can do so, the executive said, by having the control board transfer necessary funds from one item to another.

Quoting President Rightmire as having said "the state of Ohio will get exactly what it pays for in education as in any other service of commodity," Governor Davey asserted "under efficient administration this would be the result. But it is not necessarily true that the public gets its money's worth. We might refer again to the disproportionately higher cost per student at Ohio State, as compared to the other state universities."

that unless the nuisance taxes were extended most of them would expire June 30, and the government would lose around $1,500,000 a day in revenue.

TAXES LEADING ISSUE IN 1936

Roosevelt Associates See It As Important New Deal Phase

By EDWARD J. DUFFY,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Associates of President Roosevelt at the capitol said today that the principle of the vast tax plan meant most to him of all the new deal program, and that he would press it through the 1936 campaign.

These authoritative sources, who asked that their names not be used, said he had talked with confidants about it off and on for some time. They themselves were taken aback by the suddenness of the actual message.

Political repercussions, emphasizing the possibility of pronounced party splits, were expected. Depending on how broadly Mr. Roosevelt pursues his point, an issue rivaling constitutional questions raised by the Supreme Court NRA decision might conceivably result.

Balancing Wealth

On the one hand, his suggestions for combatting "unjust concentration of wealth" appeals especially to the "left" camps in both parties. On the other, the recommendations that the proposed inheritance tax receipts be used to help balance the budget express an objective in line with conservative views—though the methods of seeking the goal are expected to arouse hot debate.

Rep. Snell of New York, the Republican leader, summed up sentiments of more than one legislator with: "It looks like the President is trying to get the jump on Huey Long and the share-the-wealth people."

Senator LaFollette called the message "splendid" and most Democrats who would comment immediately had good words to say.

In some anti-administration quarters it was contended "reform" was decidedly being put ahead of "recovery." Implications of this for the country, and so for the major parties, will be watched.

Some new deal leaders showed they were startled if not mystified by the tax move at just this time.

"Wait until next session at least," was the tenor of some advice, as recounted today by men in a position to know.

The die, as they say it, is now cast.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, June 20.—Local authorities said today that an incident in which an Italian flag was torn from an automobile belonging to G. Mombelli, first secretary of the Italian legation, was considered the simple misdemeanor of an individual.

The man who tore off the flag, it was stated, was drunk and is being held in jail for punishment.

Kind to Motorists
URBANA, June 20.—Urbana wants to be a "hospitable" town, not a speed trap for visiting motorists, Mayor W. W. Rock said today. While the city council adopted a four-point program to protect children's lives, the mayor ordered police merely to warn visiting drivers against speeding.

Italy Protests Insult To Flag; Note Is Forwarded

(By Associated Press)

ROME, June 20.—The foreign office was informed today that an Ethiopian aviator tore an Italian flag from an Italian legation automobile in Addis Ababa Tuesday night and attacked the chauffeur.

The automobile was that of G. Mombelli, first secretary of the Italian legation of Ethiopia.

The affair was stated to be regarded as a diplomatic incident, resulting in the Italian minister filing a strong note of protest with the Ethiopian government.

The Ethiopian aviator was said to have come up to the car, shouted imprecations against Italy, and torn off the tri-colored flag. The chauffeur protested and the aviator is alleged to have assaulted him.

BRUNO'S APPEAL HEARD BY COURT

"browbeat, bulldozed, belittled and chastised" him. Numerous portions of the trial record were cited to support the charge.

It also contended the case should have been tried in Mercer county where the baby's body was found on May 12, 1932, and asserted further there was no proof of the common law crime of burglary and that the court erroneously charged that statutory crime (Hauptmann was tried on the theory that the baby's death occurred during the commission of a burglary and was therefore first degree murder).

The brief contended further that the admission of the kidnap ladder in evidence was improper and that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's daily presence in court influenced the jury unfairly.

It attacked the testimony of Amanda Hochmuth, octogenarian, who testified he saw Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate, and attacked the credibility of Millard Whited and Charles B. Rossiter, who also placed Hauptmann in the vicinity.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard presiding judge was attacked in the brief on the grounds that he "impaired a free verdict and impressed upon the jury his conclusions as to the evidence and imposed upon the defendant an unauthorized rule as to reasonable doubt." The brief charged likewise that he failed to charge the rule as to the weight of handwriting testimony and ignored a number of request charges offered by the defense.

The brief attacked the expert value of Arthur Koehler's wood testimony, and the value of Lindbergh's identification of Hauptmann's voice. It charged Dr. John F. Condon, ransom payment intermediary, did not testify truthfully and fairly, and that the testimony of John Perrone, Bronx taxi driver, Al Reich, Condon's bodyguard and other state witnesses was confused.

The testimony of police and others in relation to the ransom money, the brief contended, could do no more than connect Hauptmann with the crime of extortion in the Bronx, and had no bearing on the kidnaping and killing.

Speaking of Wilentz' summation, the brief cited Justice Trenchard himself, speaking in another case in which he remarked it is an error for a prosecutor in summation to "declare his individual opinion or belief that the defendant is guilty, in such a manner that the jury may understand such opinion or belief to be based on something which the prosecutor knows outside the evidence."

This, the brief said, is what Wilentz did.

The court convened at 9:28 a. m. (Eastern Standard time). Shortly before the courtroom doors were closed, the kidnap ladder was taken in. It was believed the ladder was requested by Hauptmann's attorneys.

Cleveland Indians Now Appear Yanks' Greatest Opposition

It Must Be Admitted Tribe Has Been Guilty of Strange Inconsistencies This Season, But They Fight Relentlessly

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Cleveland Indians have been guilty of some strange inconsistencies this season, but at times it looks as if they might give the league-leading Yankees the best fight for the American league pennant.

Threatened with a plunge into the second division only a week ago, Walter Johnson's tribe fought its way clear with four straight victories over the Red Sox, then shook off another heartbreaking blow yesterday to split a doubleheader with Washington, and gain undisputed possession of third place as the Tigers dropped a pair of games to the Yanks.

Cleveland showed plenty of hitting power in both games, gathering 31 hits, including five home runs. But after building up a 5-0 lead in the opener, the Indians were forced to yield 11 to 8, when Thornton Lee blew sky high in the eighth.

Undaunted, the Indians went on to slug a pair of former Cleveland bingers, Jack Russell and Belve Bear, for 17 hits, including Hal Trosky's tenth and eleventh homers, to win the second game 10 to 5.

The Tigers scored a similar comeback after taking a 13 to 3 drubbing from the Yanks in the opener but after 12 exciting innings went down on all counts. The 7 to 6 defeat not only dropped them to fourth but it ended Tommy Bridges' winning streak after nine straight mound victories.

Bridges and Vic Tamulis fought it out evenly until each team collected a tenth inning homer. Pat Malone finished for the Yanks, and Bridges weakened in the twelfth when an error by Flea Clifton put the Yanks in position to score three times. The Tigers nearly salvaged the game when Charley Gehring poked a homer and Hank Greenberg followed with another, but Goose Goslin couldn't finish the job.

The Red Sox and Browns divided the third American League double bill, Boston winning the opener 8 to 5, despite two homers by Julius Fellers and one by Ed Coleman, and the Browns taking the afterpiece 6 to 3 behind Sugar Cain's seven-hit flagging.

In the National League the Braves and Cubs split the only games that escaped the bad weather. Bob Smith got the better of Lon Warneke to give Boston the first clash 2 to 1. Bill Lee outlasted Huck Betts in the nightcap, winning 3 to 0.

Dizzy Takes Beating—At Track

All the "bearing down" that Dizzy Dean did wasn't a help when he tried to beat the ponies at Salem, N. H., when he took a day off from baseball duty and arguments with Manager Frankie Frisch. He was shut out at the mutual payoff windows. Mrs. Dean is seen with him.

Davey Strikes Blow At State University

COLUMBUS, June 20.—President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State University charged today that Gov. Davey, "by his unbelievable appropriation vetoes has struck a staggering blow" at the university.

Preparing to discuss the situation with the trustees, who face, he said, the necessity of devising a drastically curtailed educational program, Rightmire asserted in a statement: "Whatever his intentions, these are injustice and irresponsibility in the practical efforts of his action."

Plans Uncertain For J. Braddock

Heavyweight Champ May Make Exhibition Tour, Join Movies

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Just when Jimmy Braddock will make the first defense of his heavyweight crown is uncertain.

Jimmy Johnston, head of boxing at Madison Square Garden, is going ahead with plans to bring Braddock and Max Schmeling, former titleholder, together in September, but he is meeting opposition that may postpone the bout.

Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, has indicated he probably would hold the Garden to its contract—that Braddock make his first title defense in 1936.

"We want a chance to cash in on the title," said Gould. "We want to take an exhibition tour, maybe go to Europe, and we might make a picture in Hollywood."

The second obstacle is the state athletic commission. Chairman John J. Pheasant said he thought the commission would not approve of a Schmeling-Braddock fight until the Garden disposes of Art Lasky, whom Jimmy licked en route to the top.

The commission's attitude is based on an agreement Gould is said to have made with Lasky after the Braddock fight. Lasky, who went into the match with bad hands, asked for a return bout and Gould is said to have consented.

Constipation Relief In New Appetizing Bread Pleases Anxious Mothers

Watchful Heads of Families Find a Safe, Pleasing Diet In Honey Krushed Wheat Bread

Soft food, hasty eating, and lack of exercise cause millions of otherwise healthy men and women to suffer faulty elimination. It is estimated that at least one in every family constantly depends upon drugs, pills or cathartics for relief. Believing the prevalence of this habit to be unnecessary for constipation, relief is now offered for this ailment, that is also palatable and nourishing.
Honey Krushed Wheat Bread contains two vital health-giving ingredients—roughage and honey. As combined in Honey Krushed Wheat Bread they act as a natural aid that is effective at once, and permanently beneficial.
Crushed wheat utilizes the entire wheat kernel. Pure honey gathered in the summer by industrious bees from the heart of a million blossoms, stored in their own natural made combs, is used to replace sugar in this bread. Honey is sweet, wholesome, invigorating. As used in Honey Krushed Wheat Bread, it makes you love the flavor and it is easy to digest. It aids faulty elimination.
Make This Ten Day Test
If you are troubled with faulty elimination, switch to Honey Krushed Wheat Bread for ten days. After the third or fourth day you will begin to feel more peppy, your bowels will begin to move regularly, and you will soon feel like a different person.
The two principal ingredients in Honey Krushed Wheat Bread—crushed wheat and honey—give your internal organs the stimulation which they need. To counteract the faults of your diet, many specialists and physicians are now advocating the regular eating of Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. It is well to follow this advice and start at once. Order from your grocer today.

NEW RECIPES FOR COFFEE

COFFEE is always in season, no matter the time of year, since most of us enjoy iced coffee almost as much as a cup of steaming, hot aromatic coffee.

One of the nicest summer drinks of which we know is iced coffee. The amounts given in this recipe will make one quart of this delicious beverage. Add four tablespoons ground coffee, six cloves, one four-inch stick cinnamon and a dash of salt to four cups milk. Heat all in double boiler until the chocolate is melted. Strain and return to double boiler. Combine three-quarters of a cup of sugar with one tablespoon of flour and add to chocolate mixture. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly, then continue cooking for five minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from boiling water, cool slightly and pour over one well-beaten egg. Chill. Pour over cracked ice in tall glasses. Top with whipped cream, if desired.

If you are serving ordinary coffee it is a nice idea to top the coffee and milk with a teaspoon of unsweetened whipped cream, serving immediately. This is Vienna style and is the secret of that delicious coffee served in the charming cafes that abound in the city by the Danube, which is so famous for its coffee.

And here's another coffee hint: When making iced coffee, pour freshly made after-dinner coffee over cracked ice. The extra strength is necessary because of the dilution due to melting ice. Leftover cold coffee makes a most unsatisfactory beverage.

GROWERS and swift transportation have combined to place rhubarb on the market right through spring until well into the summer months. With this advantage, cooks have devised many interesting ways of using this tonic-fruit, other than the old-fashioned double-crust pie, and the heavily-sweetened sauce.

To make a simple pudding that is relished alike by children and adults and is good for both, line a pudding dish with medium slices of bread and butter, crusts removed. Cook about a pound and a half of rhubarb with a few tablespoons water until quite thick. Pour in contents of a can of sweetened condensed milk and mix well. Pour this into lined basin and top with bread and butter slices. Cover with heavy plate. Chill in refrigerator.

With Mince Meat
Mince meat and rhubarb combine very effectively. To make a different brown Betty, break a nine-ounce package of dry mince meat into pieces. Add half cup cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are broken up. Bring to brisk boil and boil for three minutes until mixture is practically dry. Combine this "mince" with three cups fresh diced rhubarb, half cup sugar and quarter cup spoon salt. Fill a buttered casserole with alternate layers of the rhubarb and bread crumbs, ending with a layer of the crumbs on top. Add a quarter cup water and dot with tablespoon butter broken in bits. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) for 40 minutes, or until rhubarb is tender. Serve with a hard sauce. This recipe serves six.

Rhubarb Cake
A fresh rhubarb refrigerator cake, put together in a few moments in the morning, is a delicious dinner dessert for a spring day. To make it blend together one and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk and one-fourth cup of lemon juice. Add one cup unsweetened, stewed, fresh rhubarb. Line narrow oblong pan or spring form cake pan with waxed paper. Cover with fruit mixture. Add layer of vanilla wafers alternating in this way until fruit mixture is used. Use 24 vanilla wafers in all, finishing with a layer of wafers on top. Chill in refrigerator six hours or more. To serve, turn out on small platter and carefully remove waxed paper. Cut in pieces and serve again. The amount given will make a cake that will serve eight.

Rhubarb also can be combined with sweetened condensed milk in a short-cut pie that is simply scrumptious. To make, blend one and a half cups of the milk with two and one-half tablespoons lemon juice and two egg yolks. Fold in one cup of fresh stewed rhubarb which has been drained and forced through a sieve. Pour into baked nine-inch pie shell and cover with meringue made by beating two egg whites until stiff and adding two tablespoons granulated sugar. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) until brown—about ten minutes. Chill before serving.

WHOSE WIFE? A CYRUS K. MANTEL MURDER MYSTERY

by CLADYS SHAW ERSKINE AND IVAN FIRTH

CHAPTER XV

"Hello, Mr. Mantel. Hello, Ingles," Vane greeted them quietly. Cyrus K. took note, even as he returned the greeting of the young artist, that Lawrence Vane seemed to have no horror of the terrace across which he was walking. He also noticed, and was pleased with his observation, that Vane stepped forward firmly with his head erect, and his blue eyes clear and straight ahead. Quite a different person from the slouching, morose prisoner of the Tombs.

Ingles said gruffly, "Hello, Vane. Glad you're out. But I hate to have to see you here under these circumstances."

"You don't hate to see me here this way any more than I hate to be here," Vane returned with spirit. Then he turned to Mantel. "Have you found out anything, sir?" he asked.

"I've just been looking about a little," Mantel evaded. "Let's get right onto these sketchbooks of yours."

"Seems a queer sort of time to choose to take a look at sketches of mine," said Vane.

Ingles threw him a piercing glance, then said, "Lawrence, what would you commence with on this case?"

"I would try to get you police started on finding my wife," Vane answered quietly.

"Humph," Ingles grunted. "That's why I want to see those sketches, Mr. Vane," said Cyrus K. gently.

Lawrence Vane turned on his heel and preceded the two elder men back into the studio of the apartment where he had known happiness for such a short time.

"All right," he said. "I'll get them out."

"Is that a picture of your wife?" the detective asked, while waiting for Vane to produce the requested sketches.

Mantel walked over deliberately and stood beneath the mantle of the wide, low-burning fireplace. Above the mantel shelf, scooped on either side by old-world candle-sticks, was a painting, arresting in its beauty—a nude woman, the flesh tints entrancingly lovely, standing poised and startled in a listening attitude, in a verdant wood, dappled with warm sunlight. Rich auburn hair rippled down her body; partly veiling her beauty, her face was vague, but beautiful in the shadows.

"Is that a picture of your wife?" he asked, turning to Vane where he shuffled large portfolios about, in search of the needed sketchbooks.

Vane glanced up abstractedly, saw where Mantel stood, and suddenly his face was suffused painfully with a scarlet flush.

"That?" he stammered. "No—that's not my wife—that's a sort of composite picture—you know—" he explained eagerly, "a mixture of many models—and perhaps—the dream or ideal of the artist—a picture like that is rarely, if ever, a true portrait of any one woman—" he laughed nervously. "If it were, one's wife wouldn't let one have it about."

"Is a very beautiful body, and very beautifully painted," Cyrus K. adjusted his pince-nez as he spoke and studied the picture intently.

"Do you mean," Ingles said slowly, "that an artist often puts the beauties of many different models into one painting?"

"Yes," said Vane briefly.

"The head of one upon the body of another?" Ingles persisted.

"Why, certainly," Cyrus K. put in cheerfully, "and the hair of still another."

Vane looked at Mantel keenly for a moment, then dropped his eyes as the twinkling black eyes of the little detective met his.

"It's a funny thing about the human body," said Cyrus K. "Every one sees it differently. To the layman it is something to feed and to clothe; to the youngster of this age it is something to test new sensations with; to the person it is something addicted to sin, with a soul that must be saved; to the surgeon it is something to dissect—to save from disease and to practice upon; and to the artist it is something to paint and to glorify for future generations to enjoy and marvel at."

"Looks to me as though sometimes the artist and the surgeon get their eyes mixed," said Ingles deliberately.

Vane lifted his head with a challenging gleam in his eyes.

"What do you mean by that, inspector?" he asked. "Are you going to keep on harping on that idea. I've told you before that I know nothing about that ghostly body you and your officers found out on my terrace. And that's God's truth. The trouble with all you police is," he went on angrily, "that you get an idea in your heads and you ride it to a fare-you-well, and all the time you are trying to prove your own particular theory the real culprit gets away. You can't see beyond the nose in front of your face."

"Or beyond the body in front of you on the terrace," Cyrus K. interrupted smoothly. "Come, come, you fellows, this is all very well, but there is no good to be gained by quarreling. Let's get at those sketches."

"What he says about the police may be true in some cases," Ingles persisted belligerently, "but not in all."

"Well . . . I'll concede you that," said Vane, "but by the same token what you say about artists may be true in some cases, not all."

"Let me ask just one straight question, Mr. Mantel," said Ingles, "before you start on the pictures."

"Go ahead . . . by all means . . . ask away!"

"If that body isn't the body of your wife, Isobel, then whose body—or whose wife—is it?"

"I haven't the slightest idea," Vane confessed helplessly. "I've told you before that I never saw her before and that I don't know who she is. All I want, is that you find out what has happened to Isobel."

"I've told you before, Lawrence," said Ingles steadily, "that the body of Isobel is at the morgue."

"And I've told you before that that isn't Isobel—and I demand that you find her."

"There's only one way to settle this argument," said Cyrus K., "and the sketches will help a lot. Come . . . let's look at them."

"I can't see where pictures are going to help a lot," Inspector Ingles protested. "After all we have the body itself. What more convincing evidence could there be?"

"So?" Cyrus K. removed his glasses and slowly stroked one eyebrow. "So? The discovery of the body alone seems sufficient to you . . . do I understand you correctly, Inspector?"

"Yes, you do," said Ingles. "After all what more can you want than that?" he laughed shortly. "That is generally the one thing any criminal tries to do away with."

"Yes . . .," Cyrus K. nodded. "I will grant you that in a case of murder a body is essential to the proving of the crime. But . . . in this case, my dear fellow, I maintain that the body is not enough. No . . . not enough."

"Well, what more do you want, may I ask?" Ingles was exasperated, and showed it.

"More than a body?" smiled Mantel.

"Yes . . . more than a body," Ingles mimicked.

"A head," said Cyrus K.

Those two little words hung in the air of the quiet studio, so still it was. The crackling sound of a match as the Inspector lighted his pipe relieved the tense atmosphere. He looked up at Mantel over the flare of the light.

"Your point is well taken," he said quietly. "Certainly we have the body . . . and equally certainly that body has lost its head."

"Many a woman has lost her head before this for a man," said Mantel, "but when a dead woman loses hers, the question develops, what man did she lose it for . . . and did she lose it before, or after death?"

"Maybe both," said Ingles.

"Perhaps . . .," Cyrus K. conceded, "quite likely, in fact!"

Suddenly he looked directly at the Inspector and his black eyes lost their twinkle. They were keen and piercing.

"That's something I'd like to talk to you about, Inspector," he said. He bowed formally. "May I sum up the case as I see it?"

Ingles nodded, looked worried and took a deep draw at his pipe.

"You come up here on a call from your own officer (who is on the premises) and you find Mr. Vane here, dragged in his studio . . . and you find furthermore the naked, headless body of a woman on his terrace. Am I right?"

"Quite. Go on."

"You know that he is newly married, and you naturally search for his wife . . . she is gone . . . he goes into hysterics, and claims that he does not know where she is . . . you take him to the Tombs, charged with the murder of his wife . . . and the headless body of the woman is taken to the morgue . . . am I right?"

"Quite. Go on."

"You, the officers of the law, claim that this body is the body of Isobel Vane, who is mysteriously missing; her husband, charged with her murder, denies that this is the fact, and still maintains that he does not know whose body it is, and begs you to find his wife for him. You take this as bluff and still . . . sure that the body you have is that of the missing wife. Am I right?"

"Quite. Go on."

"May I ask, Inspector Ingles, what makes you so sure?"

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

J. PIERPONT MORGAN, of New York, who sold valuable pictures here, and sold them well, proving business ability, in London is selling costly miniatures. One among them shows how much human intelligence can add to the value of inanimate objects. A piece of paper two inches in diameter, cut from a playing card, the "seven of diamonds," is expected to sell for about $15,000. Holbein, the younger, painted a miniature on that piece of paper, one of 800 miniatures that Mr. Morgan will sell.

SOME ASK why Mr. Morgan, who is prosperous, sells works of art that cannot be replaced. The reply might properly be:

"That is my business."

Perhaps he sees ahead conditions in which "real money" will be better than miniatures. Perhaps he believes that some other money might be better than United States money, although it is hard to imagine that, with so big a lump of gold in Uncle Sam's possession, the biggest in the world.

MRS. EVA COO, in Sing Sing, due in the electric chair in ten days, celebrates her birthday with a cake inscribed: "happy birthday." The kind-hearted wife of the prison warden gave her roast chicken, a box of candy, strawberries and ice cream. The cake had no candles, "as a precaution against suicide by fire."

OURS is a queer "civilization," giving cake, candy, ice cream, strawberries and roast chicken one day, turning on the electric current, ten days later.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS and President Roosevelt and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., should have talked to Bernard J. Dubos, distinguished French engineer, going home today after spending two months examining our "sandstorm" regions, and investigating rainfall in many sections of the country from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Mr. Dubos offers scientific facts to prove that sandstorms and the drought can be prevented, and uses the waterspout which the French calls a trombe, to prove it.

THE SENATE rejects Senator Long's proposition to spend five thousand million dollars a year, benevolently, and raise the money by taking "chunks" out of large fortunes.

This proves the senator's "share-the-wealth" idea might last a little while, but after the large fortunes were all gone, the "share-the-wealth" gentlemen might begin taking "chunks" out of each other. That is how it was in the stone age, before men had agreed on laws permitting each other to keep what belonged to him. Early men even bit "chunks" out of each other.

One Killed, 47 Injured In Omaha Riots

Workmen are shown clearing up some of the wreckage of one of the many burned street cars which were destroyed in the riots of Friday night, June 14, in South Omaha. The violence was an outgrowth of the street car strike which has been in progress since April 20. In Friday night's rioting one unidentified man was killed and forty-seven persons injured.

Early "share-the-wealth" advocates were called "anthropophagi."

HOW MUCH money could a country save, with efficient, economical government? In New York it costs $5.28 per person to "govern the city" 70 per cent more than it costs in some other big cities. That worries Mayor LaGuardia more than anyone else, and he is saving where he can.

Between 1918 and 1929, New York added to its payrolls 48,123 employees at an added cost of $186,863,027 a year. In the depression, 1929 to 1932, the city took on 16,648 more employees costing $366,547,038. Politicians, playing with the taxes, are expensive.

Summer School By Radio Is Planned

Students in the radio junior college, conducted from WOSU by Ohio State university in cooperation with the Emergency Schools administration, will have their own summer school, it was announced today by H. W. Lautenbach, who has charge of enrollment for Columbiana county.

Previously, all activities of the "college" were discontinued during the summer. Three courses have been scheduled, all broadcast directly from classrooms on the campus. "Recent and Contemporary Drama" will continue all quarter at 1:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday. Music, a study of the romantic period in Germany and France, will be offered at 9:30 a. m. during the first six weeks, its place being taken by "The Historical Geography of Commerce" for the second period beginning July 17.

FRANKLIN SQUARE

The first meeting of the Fleur-de-Lis 4-H club was held Friday afternoon at the home of the present leader, Mrs. Myrtle Hanna. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Fred Marshall former leader. Elections and choice of projects and recreation completed the program. Girls from 10 to 20 will be welcomed to join the club.

PWA's Provisions Preclude Heavy Jobs, Surveyor Declares

LISBON, June 20.—A recent ruling by President Roosevelt on expenditures for PWA projects provides that for each $1,400 expended, a project must give employment to one man for one year, directly on the job. County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk said today:

"This ruling does not include men employed in the preparation of material or equipment or their transportation to the site of the work," Kirk continued.

"This limitation practically excludes any so-called heavy construction in which steel, lumber, cement, sand, gravel, brick or stone would be factors. I cannot by any conceivable stretch of imagination see how the federal government, the state or any political subdivision can hope to construct anything of any material benefit without the use of materials," Kirk said.

A meeting of all highway industries of Ohio and some from adjacent states will be held at the Deshler-Wallick hotel, Columbus, Thursday when the recent ruling of the President affecting the expenditure of public funds for important PWA projects will be discussed. It has been pointed out that the limitations practically preclude the construction of heavy traffic pavements and many other types of public improvements.

The speaker at the Columbus meeting will be Willard T. Chavaler, of New York City, president of the Manufacturers' Division of the American Road Builders' association.

also George F. Schlesinger, managing director of the National Pavement Brick association of Washington, D. C.

May Settle Strike

COLUMBUS, June 20.—Strikers at the Columbus Packing company today were considering a four-point plan for settlement, of the 10-week-old conflict.

Heart Operations to Become Common

CEDAR POINT, O., June 20.—Dr. Claude S. Beck, the Cleveland surgeon who performed the first direct operation on a human heart for relief of angina pectoris, believes that heart operations will become as common as other types of surgery.

Dr. Beck, in an address to the Northern Ohio Dental association, said that rapid progress is being made in heart surgery and that the present high death rate from heart disease would be greatly reduced.

Joseph Krishnar, who submitted to an operation by Dr. Beck for relief of angina pectoris, recently was released from Lakeside hospital in Cleveland.

The dental association elected Dr. J. C. McConkey of Canton president of the organization. Other officers are: Dr. C. J. Stark of Cleveland, vice president; Dr. Dalton Gill of Toledo, secretary; Dr. D. D. Smith of Sandusky, treasurer.
